FACT: Asking your child questions throughout the day builds their language skills. Language skills help kids read, write, talk, and understand others.

Engaged, standards-aligned at-home learning insights are delivered in small, easy steps to give families that “I can do it!” feeling

Families receive helpful information, encouragement, and support

Every fact, tip, or growth message is delivered via text, 400% more read than email, to reach all families

Empower Your Families

The Ready4K® approach on which ParentPowered curricula is based is shown to increase student growth by 2+ months over a school year.

Evidence-Based Program

Families receive carefully sequenced messages to build key skills, including SEL, math, and literacy. Research conducted at Stanford showed students gained 2 to 3 months over peers when families received Ready4K messages, which is the same approach used by ParentPowered programs.

Equitable

The family engagement program is delivered via text messages, the only technology to reach 95% of families.

Accessible

3 strengths-based messages per week include fun facts and easy tips for promoting their kids’ development through daily activities — like finding odd or even building numbers when walking down the street. Written at a 3rd grade reading level. Available in more than 10 languages.

Differentiated, Standards-Aligned

ParentPowered curricula are developed by educational researchers to support birth through grade 12 and aligned to Title I, Head Start ELOF, and all 50 state standards.
